The Premises:

Compact one room flat above a shop on the high street. There are plenty of bars and restaurants nearby and the area was fairly busy when I visited. This was not a problem when I entered but I did feel a bit self-conscious walking past all the customers in the street caf? next door when I left.

The area itself appeared safe, and the flat is a couple of minutes walk from the tube and there is parking nearby.

The Lady:

Slim attractive Eastern European blonde in her early twenties with tanned skin and small/medium sized breasts. The photos on her website are recent and accurate.

The Story:

I arranged the appointment by phone a couple of hours beforehand and this was straightforward.

On arrival I was offered a drink and had a bit of a chat. Bianca speaks good English and is fun to talk to. After five minutes I was sent to the shower and told not to dry myself. When I came out I was told to lie face down on an air mattress which had been placed on the middle of the floor. Bianca then slipped off her clothes and then sat down on me and started to pour warm Nuru oil on my back. What followed was absolutely tremendous. As the massage progressed I gave her some feedback as to where and how I liked to be touched and she just went for it. The alternating attention between my back, my buttocks, my inner thighs and groin area was judged to perfection. After about 20-25 minutes she flipped me over, and the attention she paid to my front with her hands and breasts was even better. After no more than five minutes of this I was just begging her to finish me off. To be honest, the covered blowjob that followed was a bit toothy for my taste and was the one disappointment of the experience. I quickly ended up asking her to go back to using her fingertips on me and the end result could have shattered plate glass. The physical reaction she got from me was something my teenage self would have been proud of.

This is the first time I have seen a girl who just offers massage rather than the full escort service. On the plus side, Bianca?s knowledge of how men?s bodies work is something I have rarely come across before. I had worried before the appointment whether I would be allowed to touch her but by the end I didn't want to touch her at all, I just wanted her to touch me. On the negative side, the lack of full service did leave me thinking that the experience was possibly a bit expensive in comparison with other ladies. I can see myself going back though simply because Bianca provided a brilliant service which is different and much more relaxing to what I am normally used to. I would definitely recommend her to anyone in London wanting to give Nuru massage a try.
