The Story:

I first visited this establishment about 4-5 months ago and must emphasise the place although quite public on a main road was very clean and the staff very friendly and welcoming. I saw melisa on my first visit to this place and was quite impressed with this lady, she is in her mid 20's and goes out as spanish although she admits to being romanian and gave a rather pleasant service. I was in birmingham just for this weekend and when i telephoned was advised that melisa was available today so after my previous experience decided to pay her a visit, unfortunately this was a mistake on this occasion, melisa looked very tired on entering the room and her underwear i'm sorry to say had seen better days but because i'd already agreed to see melisa i did not want to offend her by asking for someone else although the other ladys available struggled to understand even the simplistic of english language. I paid my 40 pounds for half an hour but melisa was keen to get on with things and my service was very rushed, i chatted with her briefly about being rushed she apologised and advised she was very tired as she was working 7 days a week doing very long hours and she was not only providing a service but she was also being a receptionist answering the telephone so therefore she could not give a full half hour service although this is what i paid for. I cannot blame melisa for a rushed service if what she said was the truth but i will not return to this establishment until the cleaning is upto standards expected and maybe a change of staff instead of all eastern europeans. Gentlemen i can only say if you do not want to waste your hard earned cash avoid this place at all costs.
