The Premises:

Usual stamping ground for premier Thai escorts in London in the section between Queensway and Bayswater. The flat itself is very spacious and good shower facilities are available.

The Lady:

A good likeness to her pics, although they do give the impression she is younger than she looks in real life. Killer body nonetheless.

The Story:

I had heard a lot about Cherry and her PSE, but I had a very strange experience.

The punt started off well with Cherry being very affectionate towards me and saying/ doing all the right things. OWO was administered expertly but after round 1, things went downhill.

She is a bit 'scatty' and it shows during normal conversation with her. However, midway through she started talking about drugs and pulled out a bong she had stashed away to take a couple of hits. I find drugs a major turn-off and at this point the experience had turned sour for me.

She might have sensed this as she did quickly put the bong away and try for round 2. After a lot of work on her end, she did manage to get me hard and even provided anal (one of the only girls to ever manage it) where I shot my load a second time.

In retrospect, I think you need to let go of yourself before you visit Cherry and simply go with the flow. I won't be returning but for those that can put up with her 'quirkiness' will enjoy the experience.
