The Premises:

A relatively large and clean flat on the top floor of a good building; the first time I have been in this area for an escort. It is a very safe street near Paddington. The "playroom" is well-decked out with photos of her and other girls, red lights and a large TV showing an attractive Asian performing a variety of actions on some extremely well-endowed males.

The Lady:

Aisha is not your typical Thai escort; she is not as young nor as calendar-girl pretty. However, she is beautiful in a sultry, exotic manner which I found much more attractive. She is small, as others have mentioned, but very well proportioned. She is partly shaven, which looks more natural. All in all, a lovely package. Best of all is her smile and her natural manner; nothing seems forced.

The Story:

To begin with, I must comment on the superb professionalism of Invasian, in handling several changes of date and time, due to unforeseen circumstances, and providing excellent directions and information regarding taxis, tubes, etc.

I have been enjoying the services of escorts for many years and usually use Punternet as my guide in making my choices. Aisha came highly recommended by everyone who saw her and her many talents were well detailed. Given this and her premium price, I had high expectations and am happy to say that she exceeded them.

We began the session with some red wine and a chat, during which we became acquainted and I explained that, after so many encounters with little variety, I was looking for an unforgettable experience that would leave me "weak at the knees" and anxious to return. She then undressed me and led me by my already enthusiastic penis to the inevitable bath. There we played about with a bit of exploration and some glorious watersports. Aisha is by far the most delicious I have tasted. From there we returned to the bed and continued with a variety of oral and anal games, using fingers, vibrators, etc. until she brought me to a great climax. After another glass of wine and some more conversation, round two consisted of covered sex in a variety of positions until she came, with the help of some clitoral stimulation. By now, we had gone over the hour, but there was no clock-watching. I left her, weak at the knees and very anxious to return. Aisha can become addictive; she is so natural and open and accommodating. Ten out of ten.
