The Story:

Disaster!!

Opted for the ?65 girlfriend experience, which is what I always go for as it includes kissing, owo, reverse o and sex.

The session started off fine - nice massage which led to some nice french kissing and fondling. However, when it came to her giving me O, she put the rubber on and when I questioned her about OWO, she looked horrified as if I was asking for bareback! She said she never did it as it was too risky. That's fine, but on her profile it says she does it. This wasn't a case of discretionary as she just said that she never does it. I said that all the other girls I have seen at GFE over many years of going have all done it, without exception, but she wasn't interested and said that on her last shift, 3 of the other girls working then didn't do it either!

When I punt nowadays I only see girls who do OWO as I have trouble keeping an erection and having a blow job with a rubber just ruins it for me. On this occasion I lost all interest and had to finish the session without cumming - what a waste of ?65!

It also pissed me off a bit that she asked for payment up front but I gave her ?70 and she didn't give me any change - I wasn't that bothered at the time as I usually give ?70 anyway if I don't have any fivers and am happy to pay this if I enjoy the session. I asked her for the change when walking back downstairs and she said no because I had already paid for her service - I then had to point out that I paid her ?70 and only wanted ?5 back, not a discount because we finished early.

GFE is a great parlour with some exceptional girls working there and I will be going back, but will not see Zara again. To the management, if girls will definately not do a service, please don't put on their profile that they do!
