The Story:

Originally tried to book for 1pm but was told that wasn't possible, but that 30 mins at 12.30 was available...Fine.

Called to confirm on the day and was asked if I could make it for 12.15. That was no problem either. I was then asked if I could make it for 12.00. That worked in my favour too, but gave me the impression that Adele was heavily booked for later.

Anyway, I arrived for the appointment and was met by the very nice maid who brought me my requested orange juice and informed me that Adele was on her way.

Shortly after, Adele made her entrance. I have to state here that I booked Adele based on her positive feedback rather than her pictures, but - and I know it's a cliché - she is far more attractive in the flesh with a much prettier face and, I would say, a bit slimmer than in the photos.

This was my first punt in quite a while so I was a tiny bit nervous, but Adele relaxed me and asked me what I liked. I told her "a GFE focussing on oral" and that is what I got.

A very professional service but I did get the impression that Adele was in a bit of a rush and that it would be no bad thing if I was out of the room pretty sharpish - and that is how it transpired.

I was out the door well before 30 minutes after she brought me to a delightful climax. Adele didn't make an effort to make me stay to see out my time, but that doesn't bother me as I like to make an exit after the deed has been done, but it is worth noting for other punters.

I couldn't really fault Adele in many respects as she was intelligent, cheerful, seemed happy to be in the room and provided a good service, but I do have to stress that I felt that there was a bit of a rush on both with the girl and the establishment.

I'd recommend both the girl and the establishment though. Everything was up-front and honest, and yes, I didn't get my full 30 minutes, but that didn't bother me personally on this occasion, although I prefer it to be my decision to pace the punt how I like it, rather than the other way round.

I've been to Annabellas before and will happily visit again, likewise Adele, but hopefully next time it won't seem quite so urgent!
