The Premises:

This was my first visit to this particular establishment, and although not the easiest to find, none of the facilities were left wanting. I arrived at the start of the shift, and there was a considerable amount of confusion to which ladies were working there. After being introduced to 5 possible, I opted first for one, then another, only to be told that they had been allocated to duties in another flat, giving me the copious choice of two. This initial disorganised start to proceedings was not impressive and did not bode well for my debut attendance. Indeed, the room itself was not fully furnished with the appropriate equipment, as Francesca had to twice leave the room to fetch the necessary things, thus delaying and procrastinating the initial stages somewhat. The thing to learn from this, I would presume, is not to arrive at the start of the day at 11AM.

The Lady:

Francesca is a tall Brazilian lady with a tremendous abundance of energy, frenetically so in many regards. An impressionable personality can certainly be attributed to her and although not as busty as advertised, there was no feature unattractive about her. Potentially, her long wavy hair is her best asset. During my time with this lady, there was no pause for thought or a hint of hesitation, actions tumbling into one another with a remarkable amount of pace. This was not in a rushed fashion, not at all, but the commitment the lady put into her performance was bewildering. Alongside a constant litany of "dirty talk", which, although not very becoming, made the experience more than unique.

The Story:

There is little more to add to the aforementioned comments. Despite the initial reservations of the establishment's poor organisational skills, the encounter went well, although as stated, it flew by in a frantic blur of activity. Another intriguing feature was that a lot of fluids were evident, from lube to spit and other natural bodily excretions, plentiful indeed! Shyness is certainly not a characteristic of Francesca and I found her fascinating in a positive way. I can perceive though that the incessant fidgeting, endless frolicking could leave one gasping for a breath, but if you go into this expecting such, then there should not be any real issue.
