The Lady:

A petite lady, slight of stature and build with incredibly curves. Beautiful brown eyes, fair skinned with striking features. Stunning presentation and photos don't do her justice.

The Story:

I saw Sophia twice during my recent trip to London, once for two hours and once for a cocktail date... with dessert ;). Both times she came to my hotel dressed elegantly with just enough skin on show.

I found her charming, intelligent, cultured, fun, and stunningly beautiful. The lady is a consummate companion: captivating, powerful, gorgeous, highly-skilled, creative, and captures the mind at least as well as she captures the body. We had easy conversation throughout. She is clearly intelligent. While I won't go into details about what happened behind closed doors, I can say she is talented and enthusiastic. Definitely a true experience, this was no cookie cutter date. I plan to see her again the next time I am in London.
