The Premises:

Residential flat about 20 minutes from the station, flat was stylishly decorated, modern and clean. Fit for purpose

The Lady:

You see her face pictures on the site and this is what you get. She is early 20's, brownish hair and slim, she was wearing designer lingerie and had an air of confidence

The Story:

I had seen Cara's profile before as she used to work in Sheffield independently but never got the chance to pay her a visit, so was delighted to see her in MK and booked immediately. This was my second time to MK and previously had a bad experience with Parissa so have not returned since.

She was running slightly late and the maid bought me a drink, I had showered a few hours earlier but had 10 minutes or so to kill so did so again, as it was a long train journey and wanted to be fresh. When Cara arrived she greeted me with a kiss and was friendly and chatty. She was stunning, elegant and mature for her age. Paid her the fee and undressed. It started quite naturally which is unusual with parlours where you are asked to strip and join the girl.

She hesitantly gave a few light kisses (no french kisses) and I kissed her body head to toe for some time. At this stage she was not offering anything back and I am sure still recovering from her last appointment, but this then led to OW (I asked for OWO as per services but she quite rudely said no not today). It was actually ok but after a few minutes of going down on her (no fingers) I was ready for sex.

She rode me on top but felt like she was just going through the motions, I was struggling to stay hard and had to stop and switch into doggy. There was no GFE at all and even asking to change positions was met with a sigh. In the end I did not cum and we had to end the appointment 10 minutes early (on the hour) so I effectively lost 10 minutes.

My last girl was similarly cold and made me feel bad for being there, while she is stunning there is no doubt it was not a remotely sensual experience and did not live up to profile promises regarding services. I have had many good times at HOD London last year and will return but MK/Annabellas seems too much production line.
