The Premises:

Carol's building was very handy right next to a DLR station, but in a particularly soulless and publess area of the de-humanised concrete and tarmac slab that is known as London Docklands.

Once inside, the bedroom was clean and modern but she made it very dark and it lacked any ambience. It was fine for punting but no good for swinging a cat.

The Lady:

Top marks for an absolutely honest gallery – Carol's pictures seem absolutely up to date and accurate so no need to add any comments on her appearance.

I requested lingerie rather than any uniform and she greeted me in a flimsy black baby-doll top with a tiny black g-string and heels. Carol was clearly straight out of the shower and smelt great.

During the texted booking process Carol always replied promptly and seemed genuinely enthusiastic to meet me. She actually confirmed the AW booking online in less than fifteen minutes which is very rare, in fact unique, in my experience!

She was ready exactly on time and buzzed me in immediately. When I arrived at her door she was very cheery and friendly. It was all very encouraging!

The Story:

I gave Carol her basic fee within a minute of seeing her – the room was fine and she looked and smelt good!

We started off with some cuddling and attempted kissing, but the enthusiasm that Carol showed up to this point seemed to have evaporated and she switched into "disinterested escort" mode and it was all a bit forced. She did turn around and do a little bum-wiggle against me but again, it wasn't very sensual.

We stripped to our underwear and moved on to the bed where I gave her an all-over hands and body-to-body massage – I’ve found that this invariably gets things moving along nicely for both of us and, when I removed her tiny g-string and slowly made my way down to kiss her pussy, she quickly became very wet.

However, she really put me off my stroke by firmly instructing me to go slow. Erm, pardon? I’ll brag a little here and state that my oral skills are fantastic – I have had numerous very experienced and well-regarded escorts make a point of telling me that I am an “expert” at this, and the vast majority of the girls that I see absolutely love it. I am not a Neanderthal lover and I start off slowly and gently, so clearly Carol has an underlying problem with this. Any indication that I was going to bring my hand into play (NOT fingering – I know that most escorts hate that!) also provoked a negative reaction.

Anyway, I persevered but then looked up to see Carol staring at the TV! Really! That’s not a girl-friend experience, that’s a wife experience! After a while she did close her eyes but, although she was clearly physically aroused, she simply laid there totally inert and motionless. I then re-positioned her into doggie on the end of the bed and pussy-worshipped her from behind, but she was clearly not happy when I rimmed her. What’s not to like, especially for a girl that claims to “enjoy anal immensely”?

By now I was becoming irritated and losing interest. So far, Carol had barely touched me or made any effort to contribute and so I requested that we move into 69 and she immediately grabbed a condom and ripped it open. I said “Later” but she replied “Come in mouth extra”. I tried to explain that I just wanted uncovered oral but her limited understanding of English evaporated and it all started to become a little tense.

It was obvious that things had got to a point where it was best for me to leave. In fairness, Carol did ask me to write down my problem, but it was too late and there were just so many of them that it would have served no purpose.

We were clearly totally incompatible, even for no-strings paid-for casual sex and both my brain and cock had lost interest. I got dressed and left with thirty-five minute still on the clock. Only the second time that I’ve ever abandoned a punt early.

So to sum up, I paid £100 for ten minutes of company plus fifteen minutes of rather unrewarding RO. Such a shame, as Carol seemed like such a genuinely good prospect!

In retrospect, Carol’s profile is a complete work of fiction – a few obvious things that jump out:-

....“my full and undivided attention”... No, she was glued to the TV during RO.

....“I love passionate kissing”.... A bare-faced lie, even a gentle exploratory peck on the lips was very strongly repelled. There was no point in even trying again after the first few seconds.

....“the focus is on pleasing you and getting you aroused”... No again. Apart from a ten second standing lap dance when I first arrived, Carol barely touched me and made absolutely no effort to please or arouse me in any way.

....I’m a professional... OK, I’ll give her that one; she has sex for money so I guess that she qualifies.

In the morning when I booked her, Carol’s profile stated £10 extra for facial (not interested) and £20 for anal which I had readily to hand close to the bed – just in case! She has now removed these mentions.

Within ten minutes of uploading a negative feedback and the above text as a Field Report on AW, she hid it all!
