The Premises:

Nondescript flat in the middle of a long row of them. Discrete entrance, at least it was when I was there as the road wasn't crowded. Short walk from Paddington station. Small, but other than the bed, what else matters?

Oh, I guess the only other thing is that the shower is not big enough for a shared shower, but that shouldn't stop anybody from visiting this incredible woman..

The Lady:

Tracy has been confirmed many times to be the person in her profile pics. Of course, selfies are the closest representation, but even those don't really do her justice as I think she looks better in person. If you are a breast man like myself, run, don't walk, to your phone to make an appointment.

The Story:

What can be said that hasn't been said before.... Saw Tracy after seeing her a couple years ago as part of a duo. Knew I wanted to visit her solo but then the world shut down (I don't live in England). It was worth the long wait to be sure. All services provided that are on the website that I was interested in, and delivered with panache. Round one, then an extended full-body massage, followed by round two, and another short massage. She worked really hard to get round 2 out of me (fault is with me, not her) but she never showed signs of slowing down. I told her to take a rest and not worry about it but she insisted and eventually got me over the edge...and never complained about the extra effort. Hoping to see her again before I leave...
