The Premises:

Went in through rear entrance (calm down), which had good roadside parking. Was evening, and was xmas, so didn't see a soul around. Top marks for privacy. Felt safe throughout too.

Fairly clean inside. OK room (had TV / Video on wall, which seemed ideal to watch porn on while waiting for the girl, maybe even after she'd arrived, but this wasn't suggested to me, so I said nothing).

No ashtray in room - made sure to ask for that - and no tissues either (which Chantell noticed and corrected before proceedings kicked off).

The Lady:

I'd guess at early 30's. Brunette. Bit of a pot belly, and a few pounds on her arse. Reasonably pretty. Wearing a black thong, and ankle-length stockings.

The Story:

Absolute rubbish. Never been to Bunnies before (always intimidated by distance from road to front door - it's a fair old walk where anyone going past will have plenty of time to see you), but learnt that it had a rear entrance so, as I fancied a change from the (sometimes superb) Studio 95, I thought I'd try it out. Big mistake.

When I called before arriving I was told that there were 7 girls working that night. When I arrived there were 5 (as an explanation I was told that one was busy, and the other was on a visit). One was just above average, another was barely average, two were very sub-standard, and one was without doubt the most disgusting effort I have ever witnessed. I plumped for the just above average option - Chantell, and parted with my ?40.

When she joined me in the room, we chatted briefly, and she seemed quite a nice girl. When I undressed there was no offer of a massage (I expect even a token effort) she just went straight into pretty bog standard hand job. The second I was erect on went the condom, and the (again bog standard) bj started. I then negotiated owo for ?20. Big mistake.

From the moment she started giving oral again she would raise her head every few seconds to remind me not to cim. I assured, and assured, and assured her that I would give good warning, but still she kept on.

It didn't take long before this had a bad effect on me, and things stopped working. Game over.

In hindsight I should have just fucked her, but hindsight is a beautiful thing.

All in all a rubbish experience. Wouldn't normally be put off an establishment because of an experience like this, but given how dreadful the standard of girl was there I'll never ever ever be heading there again.

PS If anyone knows what has become of "Paris" who I've visited once before at Chantell's in Skewen please, please, please tell. This girl is a diamond, but I'm told by the girls at Chantell's that she's no longer working at all. If this is not the case and she has moved to somewhere else please speak up
