The Story:

Victoria arrived, as previously commented by others, looking totally unlike your typical working girl. She reminded me of a typical PhD physics student, though rather more intelligent and sensitive.

OK, so the sex was great - Victoria's oral technique, honed through careful experiment and observation she says, is remarkable. I came in no time, whereas usually I'm annoyingly slow. Be careful - this is hotter stuff than you might be expecting. Followed this by sex in several positions, all terrific, came again in mish. Great kissing and eye contact too.

Victoria is a thoughtful and sensitive person, with wide knowledge and interests. She has developed some really special oral skills, which although valuable are transferable - she could teach almost all the WGs I've met a thing or five. I wonder what else Victoria's future holds in the application of her real talent - the ability to observe, practice and develop what her peers miss - inside this profession, and then - soon I hope - outside it.
