Details of Service Provider:

Profile Name: Pampers Massage

The Premises:

Pampers is a run down shop a few minutes walk from West Horndon Station. Clean and safe inside, though facilities are hardly luxurious. 2 small cubicles for massage each containing a narrow massage table.

Area is safe, didn't notice any prying eyes even from the cafe next door. Parking either in side streets or station.

The Lady:

Jade is early to mid 40s, busty with long auburn hair and olive skin. Well formed body, not a stick insect by any means but not fat either. Friendly personality.

The Story:

The routine here is the same as my previous visit last year. Pay ?15 for a token massage, after which the lady asks if you want any extras and you agree a price. I opted for a full personal which was ?70, as usual a lot higher than the going rate. As before 2 girls working (Both mature today) but I wasn't offered a choice even though both were available.

Jade was very good though, giving a sensual GFE and putting a lot of enthusiasm into the service, particularly the kissing. I decided against oral, mainly as I didn't think I'd last very long, so we went to sex in doggy. Getting into position is something of a mission in this place as the narrow table makes moving difficult, but we managed it soon enough. After sex, the usual clean up then I left through the back door as another punter was in the waiting room.

I agree with most of the other reviews in that the price is way too dear, particularly given the run down state of the place and the tiny massage tables. However the ladies are very friendly and dirty, and combined with the lack of local competition I will come again but not very often.
