The Premises:

It was discreet and fairly average.

The Lady:

Holly has a reasonably pretty face, and looks a bit overweight or slightly fat (fatter than in the web pictures).

The Story:

I had chosen Holly because I thought she looked ok on the website pictures, and I was told that she does the extras I was considering.

Everything that Holly agreed to do before I paid her, was then either refused, or made as uncomfortable and awkward as possible by her, after she had taken the money.

She consistently came up with one excuse after another, mixed with blunt refusals to do anything properly or how I asked her to.

She refused to move to where I asked her to, she refused any positions I asked for, and she made sure that anything remotely sexual only lasted for a few seconds before she moved away again, not doing anything properly.

Having refused me what I had paid the ???130 for, she then tried to give me a hand job, to try and get rid of me quick.

I have never been so turned off by any other woman. I never even got to see her arse.

Holly???s attitude and all her verbal comments were totally patronising. She was in a mad RUSH to do as least as possible, as quickly and mechanically as possible, and as she was rushing to get out of the room, she made the final excuse that she was sorry but she hadn???t been there very long, (even though she has been on the website since at least last summer).

I am a young, average looking guy, and I am quiet, very passive and accomodating. If a woman doesn't want to do one particular thing, my normal attitude is ok, I'll try something else. I never argue or insist on doing something the woman doesn't want. But in this session Holly was blaming me for moving my cock, when she had grabbed hold of it and was controlling it herself.

I am normally full of compliments for the woman when I am leaving a place, and I have never even considered writing a net report before, but feel like I should try to warn others.

I asked the maid if she had been busy that day, or whether she could offer any other mitigation for me to write in this report, but the maid said she had not been busy, and also said that Holly doesn't tolerate people very easily, which I had already discovered.

I have never experienced anyone as offputting or unsexy as Holly, even another woman just lying down, not moving, and ignoring me, would have been a massive improvement.

Afterwards, I went to another place, where the woman was stunningly good looking, and did a lot of proper sex for, for a much cheaper price, where I came without any problems.

Even if you want any of the extras that Holly claims to offer, you will still end up being conned and ripped-off like I was, there are other women who do extras properly, are better looking, and much cheaper, elsewhere.

Service Provider's Rebuttal

Holly writes:

I remember the stated service extremely well reason being the extent of what was expected of me to do. In my own defence while trying to provide the service which was payed for i was made to feel very uncomfortable with my health being constantly put at risk. Its highly unhygienic and dangerous to be expected to continually penetrate the anal and vaginal areas alternately with the same condom, which is what was asked of me. I pride myself on the quality of service i provide yet this would be compromised if the customer is not willing to co-operate with how the service should be conducted. many regards holly.
