The Premises:

Flair is an easy five minute walk from the train station. Study your map carefully though, as I missed the street the first time around.

Once inside you walk through a snooker/pool room to get to the bar area.

Everything was fine except one of the girls was smoking around the bar. These days - we're just not used to it.

Oh yes, and the shower was one of those annoying ones - which only ran cold, or scalding hot (guess what I had to suffer cold!)

The Lady:

Lexi I would put at around 30, or a bit below. Attractive, with a nice medium build figure, and medium to large breasts, with long black hair.

The Story:

This was my first visit to Flair. I was a little perplexed by the introduction process. Who I thought was the receptionist turned out to be one of the girls, who were all hanging around the bar area. I sat down for a couple of minutes to decide who to pick. But it felt slightly awkward with all three chatting away, while I made my choice. However, no big problem.

Lexi was easily the most attractive. We went through to the room which was clean and warm, and relaxing. Lexi on her return was very laid back, with no false chat, but friendly nevertheless. She asked what kind of massage I would like, and I said soft. This was lovely, it was gently teasing and became gradually more sexual. Its amazing how many girls can't do this, but Lexi worked it a treat, going body to body towards the end.

Then when I was turned over, she was fine about me having a feel and a play around. Then it onto sex with me on top. I was pleasantly surprised to slip inside and find Lexi pretty wet. This was unexpected as the foreplay wasn't that intense. Lexi seemed relaxed with me inside her, and it allowed for a steady pace from me. But I then surprised myself with a quick build to orgasm, without it being a quickie. All in all very good. Lexi I feel would benefit from a second visit, and maybe she likes regulars. I got the feeling that things would hot up in that case.

I was fairly impressed with Flair, and will return when I can. One thing I should also add, is that its excellent value.
