The Premises:

A comfortable, well-presented flat in a modern block not far from Acton Town tube, with off-street parking. This part of Acton is a pleasant residential area, and perfectly safe.

The Lady:

Anita is a happy, extrovert woman with a body that's all curves - cuddly is a word that fits very well. If you only like ladies who fit the porn-star stereotype, or if grown women in little girls' bodies do it for you, look elsewhere. But if you want a real woman, with all the softness and rounded curves that the term implies, look no further.

The Story:

Anita offers massage and HR as well as FS; in keeping with much of my recent punting, I decided to go with the massage option. Before she started, she asked me how I would like to be massaged - firmness, any particular preferences, and so on - I appreciated that.

She is a skilled masseuse - the training shows - and will chat happily as she works on you, with an easy, friendly manner which soon ensures that you feel quite at home with her and relax. She takes her time, and every so often will check that everything is OK for you - again, a nice touch.

After a while, as I had requested, the massage began to assume a more sensual character, and it was then that I realised I was in the hands of an expert. The transition was beautifully orchestrated, with just the right amount of titillation, followed by a little more of the regular massage, then a bit more of the sensual element - a little more intense this time - and so on.

She soon discovered my weakness for having my rear end played with, and took great care to ensure that I was enjoying her ministrations.

Eventually, the time came to turn over; a bit more straight massage, but now interspersed with some serious attention to my personal travelling companion. I have been in the hands of skilled practitioners before, but I have to say that Anita demonstrated an understanding of the dynamics of a good hand job better than anyone I've ever been to in my punting career. She took her time, and didn't just stop as soon as I had come, but carefully brought me back down to earth and made sure I was feeling fine, before leaving the room briefly.

She then offered me a shower; afterwards, as we chatted some more, I realised that we had overshot our time, but this did not seem to bother Anita in the slightest.

All in all, a top quality experience - one of the best.
