The Premises:

Excellent new location near Chancery Lane tube. Clean & safe.

The Lady:

Pretty with lovely body, stats as per web site, size 8, 34c, 5'7', slim. Wearing babydoll, g-string and heels, no stockings which was disappointing.

The Story:

Shakira is very sexy and really got me going with an excellent sexy massage, touching my balls and cock. Before long I said I would extend the appointment from 30mins @ ???80 to an hour which I presumed would be another ???60 as the hour service is ???140. Had some very quick oral then Shakira climbed on top for excellent cowgirl. Then missionary to first pop. Then having shot my load said I would after all just have the 30mins, which she said was fine. Had another massage then time was up. But Shakira kept asking if I wanted to stay longer. Eventually I thought why not? However I was disappointed to hear that it was an extra ???80 for another half hour or ???60 for 15mins. With a semi I thought I would take the 15mins. Shakira then just sat on my stomach and wanked me off to second pop. Not what I was after and a bit too quick. Overall an enjoyable punt but I was very disappointed with the extra costs where I think she took advantage. For that reason I will think twice before returning. However Shakira is a very sexy girl and great company, I just left feeling ripped off.

Service Provider's Rebuttal

The establishment writes:

Could you please put this comment from Indian Palace at the end of the report:

We are sorry that Shakira did not make it clear how the pricing went when she found out you wanted to extend. We did speak to her after reading this report. She said that you had been to Indian Palace before, so she thought that you know about the prices for extending the service.

If you would have booked one hour upfront, then it would have cost you 140.

And we would also know when to let the next appointment know when the lady will next be free.

If you book it in two half hour sessions, we do treat it as two separate bookings. This is because if someone is in the room and needs extra time after his initial booking as he has not finished yet, he is given priority.

While we are giving the person in the room priority, we are also losing out on our next appointment who has booked. The reason we are losing out is because the person who is waiting gets annoyed and does not want to wait and leaves or decides to cut his booked appointment time down.

It is not our intention to rip you off and we hope you can see why we do our pricing structure the way we do with extension times. 60 is for twenty minutes. We do knock you five minutes to go before your twenty minutes is up, just to let you know that you have five minutes left in the room. We know that our visitors lead busy lives and it's very hard sometimes to make sure appointments run on time. But we always try our best at Indian Palace to make sure everybody's appointments run smoothly.

Shakira said that it was not her intention to make you come during the twenty minutes part of the service with her hands. She said that you did come before she had a chance to put the rubber on. Please send us an email if you would like to discuss anything with us.
