The Premises:

As I've reported before, Pampers is an anonymous shop in the village of West Horndon, situated next to a cafe and near the station. Opens on Bank Holiday Mondays, but not Sundays. Feels safe and discrete, even when cafe is open and the nearby houses. Buzzer entry does mean you are standing in the quiet street for a few moments.

Inside is newly refurbished, with a decent sized vip room containing a large massage table, about the size of a double bed. You pay ?20 to the maid for the room then you pay the girl for the massage.

The Lady:

Sophie is a very attractive dark haired English girl, in her mid 20s, with lovely hazel eyes. Nice figure, not too small but not too big. Very friendly too. The girls here wear short pink massage uniforms, like you see in a beauty salon.

The Story:

Watched tv for about 20 minutes as Sophie was with another client, but well worth the wait. Started off with the usual massage with oil, watching in the mirror as Sophie leaned over in her short massage uniform, allowing me a glimpse of her bum.

Soon turned over and she removed her uniform, to reveal lacey black underwear. She soon started massaging my chest, before feeling my hard cock. She then gave me uncovered oral but I had to stop her quite quickly for fear of an early end! She then licked my nipples, before we changed places and she lay on the table. She took off her underwear and we french kissed, as I played with her boobs. Soon I found myself getting very aroused and so Sophie put the condom on me and we had sex in missionary.

As we had some time over, she massaged me some more and we had a nice chat about punting in general and other establishments, until time was up. Unusually for this place, I had the full half hour, usually I am out of the door within 20/25 minutes.

This was very good punt with a great girl who I will certainly see again. She works Mondays and Wednesdays.

As for the venue, although it is expensive and there are still massage tables rather than beds, I have not had a disappointing punt here so far in 9 visits so far, so it is worth the extra cost!
