The Story:

Following two good field reports 98907 & 99071 decided to give this one a try. Phoned Holly a couple of hours before and was told that it was a nude massage including an oral finish as stated on her website. Made an appointment for 8.00pm originally but when I arrived at West Hampstead and called for the address was asked if I could make it for 8.30pm and I agreed. On arriving at the flat I was greeted by an attractive slim, blonde, Polish girl. After sorting out the paperwork I was asked to have a shower which I accepted, even though I already had one before. The massage is done on a proper massage table however it was not Tantric in any way; it was a good sensual massage none the less which becomes quite erotic with plenty of tickling around the sensitive bits. When I turned over she started to apply oil to my now erect member at which point I asked her about oral relief to which she replied that she had a sore throat and continued with the hand relief. I was very disappointed as this was the main reason that I made the booking, and as I mentioned before, she did say that it included an oral finish over the phone. As this is a studio flat solely used for this purpose I wonder if it is shared by more than one girl or maybe we did not click. It was not easy to make much conversation with her either and therefore I certainly will not be seeing her again. All I can say is you have been warned and if you do wish to make a booking make sure that the services mentioned on the website are fulfilled beforehand.
