The Premises:

This is a very up-market area of London. A flat within a Georgian Terrace square facing a church. Very nice area.

The Lady:

Unrecognizable: the lady did not match her photo even slightly!

The Story:

The young lady pictured on the site is described as 'Evelina', 'New', 'East European', 5'7, 32B, 23 years old, the pictures show brown hair, blue eyes and wearing grey underwear. No favorable reviews on the webpage in 2009, and still no reviews now...

Nearly 18 months ago, I was re-directed on 24th September 2009, from the advertised Gloucester Rd, to attend an address in Earls Court SW10 to meet her - she was described as 'new' at that time too...

The lady who I met bore no resemblance to this person whatsoever: she had very dark hair medium length, not long brown hair, she was Russian, not East European. She had a noticeable facial blemish on her lower chin, she had a tanned complexion and had a very round face. She was about 5'6. She had a small scar below her left eyebrow and she said she was Evelina. Certainly not photogenic 'model' looks.

The room had Orthodox Christian religious icons on display, and even had family photos by the bedside!

She said she was 25 years old (instantly aging two years), and twice during the hour she was distracted by her mobile phone going off.

I was disappointed not to see the person advertised on this site, and got no reply or explanation when I emailed Escorts Kingdom about this.

Ever since that experience, I have been very reluctant to trust photos given on such sites as genuine.

Avoid.
