The Premises:

Flat in a well-known(notorious?)block by Surbiton station. Residential area so quite safe. On road parking at 60p per hour. The flat itself was pretty average. I think the "bedroom" is meant to be the living room as it has no door but a wide archway with a curtain. The room itself was quite nice although it was a bit dark but the lights on the Christmas tree helped! That and other seasonal decorations made it quite homely. But it was not very warm, in fact I thought it quite chilly but the maid confirmed the heating was on. I should have walked.

The Lady:

On the website Bethany is a blond. The woman who came in had black hair but she was quite nice looking, tall in her heels. She said she was Hungarian but her English was not very good and my immediate sense was that this was not going to be a very good punt, again I should have walked.

The Story:

The usual service was offered - massage, oral with and sex. I asked if this included RO, she indicated no, I gave her a quizzical look as though I would walk, and she reluctantly said yes. Anyway, paid the money and undressed. She came back - could see I was cold(!) so gave her a little cuddle and gently licked and sucked her firm breasts. They could have been enhanced but I wasn't going to look for the scars. After a little of this she wanted to get the condom on but I said no, massage and lay down. "You want oila" she asked - yes - and had a "massage" for a few minutes which was really just a rub. Turned over and on with the condom for oral which was okay then told her I wanted to lick her. Did so for a few minutes then she wanted me in her so did in mish then asked her for doggy. I wasn't really into it and came after a few minutes. Her English wasn't very good so not much conversation. I get the impression she would have wanted to get it over as soon as possible. I was out in less than 25 minutes, could have been a lot sooner.

If I understood correctly the maid said the flat had been going 11 years but they did not advertise, just put the profiles on a website. Looking at several other profiles it was obvious the women had all been photographed in the same flat. Bethany said she was only there on Mondays. The profiles of the other women did not have phone numbers so assume they are shown only when they are working.

So not a brilliant service and would not recommend to others nor would I return for any of the other women.
