The Premises:

As described on the website. On the main road, next to a caf?, so easy enough to find. A rather pricy establishment, but I am intrigued by gimmicks and wanted to sample the soap-suds experience. The room was a simple enough area of space, but had nowhere to place one?s clothes and possessions. A massage bed, extraordinarily wobbly and a rather large showering facility. Where, the soap-suds massage takes place on a futon type of material. For the price, one can find a girl in London, which will give you a fuller GFE with OWO and sometimes A. However, for the B-B massage, it was more than worth a visit.

The Lady:

Heather is a wonderful little package, a slim size 6 with a small bust, sporting an energetic and live frame. I found her extremely personable and more than a good conversationalist. Claims to be early 20?s, but I?m unsure to that claim. Services were performed with aplomb.

The Story:

As stated, I chose to experience the soap suds massage. An interesting and somewhat pleasurable experience. In essence, this involves lying on this air-mattress and immersing oneself in a few inches of tepid water. Soap suds are then applied to both parties and the girl rubs herself energetically on both sides of the body. Having a lovely young lady slide herself across you is a joyous way to end a day full of meetings.

However, the first 20 minutes of the encounter entailed an oily back-rub, prolonged far too long in my opinion, however relaxing the girl made it. 10 minutes then on the front and half-way through the time, the soap suds experience began. That lasted about 10 minutes and then onto the oral and sex perched precariously on the very rickety massage table.

Oral was with, which is a bit surprising considering the hourly rate charged.

This was demonstratively the highlight of the event, as Heather performed this well, with an experienced, but sensual, touch. For this service, I applaud Heather wholeheartedly.

Heather then asked to perform oral on her knees at the end of the bench and informed me that this would lead to an ?interesting position?. This turned out to be Heather balanced on the end of the bench whilst deep-penetration was enabled. This again was enjoyed immensely and Heather made suitable spoken encouragement throughout. A quick shower to clean up, dressed in a very steamy room, a cool glass of OJ and I trundled my way back to the station and Heathrow.

In conclusion, I would recommend Heather. A lovely lady, skilled at her profession and performed admirably throughout.

I would question the establishment though. First for it's price, then the actual facilities (I did not really appreciate folding my suit, tie and shirt on the floor under the massage table, or dressing in such hot and steamy conditions thereafter), and the strict structured time-pattern to how the proceedings were embarked upon. Flexibility could be instigated and although I attempted to alter this, it was discouraged politely, if somewhat firmly.

I am yet to scope out any neighbouring establishments, but would surmise that more agreeable premises could be found with sufficient enough research.
