The Story:

Ok let's start with the positive aspect of this visit. Paige is clearly a lovely lady who is very charming to talk too.

But I'm afraid that's all that I can say that was positive about this visit.

I arrived on-time, Paige entered the room looking amazing and I paid for 45 minutes body to body naked massage.

Paige passed me my glass of water and asked me to lie down on the massage bed. The massage began with gentle rubbing on my back and legs, with Paige topless and with her knickers on throughout.

Paige then asked me to turn over and immediately began to give me hand relief. As soon as she done that, she asked me if I knew how to work the shower? So I got up and went over to the shower, Paige left the room. I then looked over at the clock and it wasn't even 15:20 yet. I took a shower and got dressed, Paige entered the room again and escorted me out of the building and I was back in my car at 15:28.

I thought strongly about if I should write this report, but I decided too in the end because I feel so unhappy about the experience. Firstly I paid for a 45 minute body to body massage and got 20 minutes poor excuse for a massage with no body to body, along with Paige being half dressed throughout.

I have only just started going back to this establishment recently after a previously bad experience (I didn't write a report because the lady left the business shortly after). Both of my recent visits have been to see Ashleigh and on both occasions it was fantastic. But this visit has put me back off from going again :(
