The Lady:

Very attractive, British, 40 something blonde, medium height, medium build with a curvy figure, large breasts, mostly shaved but with a small tuft remaining. Details on the agency's website seem accurate and the photos are definitely of her. I had a fair idea what to expect and physically she was just my type - fancying someone always enhances the experience imho.

The Story:

Carly arrived a few minutes early. She explained at the outset that she joined the industry because she....ummmm.... really enjoys the work and getting paid for it was a bonus adding that there were no limits apart from no anal and no bareback intercourse. It became clear that she was completely open minded when she told me that she has achieved all fantasies and recounted a few of these. I, having had a somewhat sheltered existence, derived considerable vicarious enjoyment listening to her - the ultimate aural sex.

She went on to evidence how much she enjoyed her work and from her bodily responses it was highly unlikely that she was faking the physical indications. It wasn't totally one sided as she was keen to find out what I like and then she went ahead and did them. I would hasten to add that these were not remotely extreme, just slightly outside the mainstream GFE offerings of many other ladies.

I timed to finish 60 minutes after she'd arrived but, while I was expecting her to dress and leave immediately, she snuggled up to me for a few minutes longer before getting up.

Concluding, this was yet another top quality GFE from Prestige. Carly is especially recommended for seeking a high octane experience and for those who fantasize about having a nymphomaniac girlfriend both of which roles she can play extremely convincingly though with her it probably isn't role play.
