The Story:

This was my third time seeing Miss Rose. When I first came across her I was looking for a kinky experience to explore my kinkier side for the first time, but was worried about it all being too much or not being able to relax and enjoy myself. Miss Rose started me off gradually since the first session and we've built up to some tougher punishments. She's got a great attitude, very fun and lighthearted but she can be cruel when you deserve it! Even when I'm just relaxing with her after we've finished the session, I love the wicked glint in her eye, and her innocent demeanour (don't believe it for a second though, I'm warning you.)

Miss Rose put me right at ease as per usual and we had a quick chat about what we did last time. She mentioned that she'd enjoyed our role-play that started with me spanking her a bit before she revealed that she'd lured me in under false pretences and it was she who was going to take command and punish me. The role play was great, we didn't take ourselves too seriously but we did get into it and it felt believable and was great fun. Part way through the session she started pushing my boundaries a bit and for every extra bit I went, she'd take something off and reveal more of her fantastic figure.

She worked the orgasm denial I'd asked for into the roleplay and when she had me very close she decided I'd have to take a few more strokes of the cane before she could allow it! Bliss. Her sensual teasing left me begging for release.

All in all if you like a BDSM experience with someone open-minded, beautiful and fun, you're in good hands. If you're new (like I was) she's a great person to start with because she dials it up gradually and sensually. And (for me) the hand relief at the end is very important too, and she's very good at that too!
