The Premises:

End of terrace house on a quiet residential street close to Blackhorse Road tram stop. Discrete site entrance and plenty of free parking nearby. It was apparent that the premises is lived in and it was somewhat untidy. No shower facilities were on offer.

The Lady:

According to her AW profile, Pamela is friendly high-class Hungarian blond in her early 20s who loves sharing her naughty side with gentlemen. I've no idea if this is true as I never met Pamela and the two girls that were working when I visited were nothing like Pamela's description.

The Story:

Having spoken to Pamela that afternoon to schedule a meeting, I arrived at 7:30 pm as arranged only to be told that Pamela was not available and would not be available for another hour. The two girls who told me this were available but were not particularly good looking compared to Pamela. But having made the trip and at only £40 for half an hour, I decided to go with a dark haired lady who called herself Fiona and who was in her early 20s, average height, size 16 and, I discovered, spoke virtually no English.

The experience turned out to be a bit like having sex with a blow-up doll. Fiona put the condom on almost immediately and was totally disengaged during the whole time. The blow job that she initially gave was mediocre and lacked any real skill or enthusiasm. After that, it was sex in the missionary position followed by cowgirl, which I was quite surprised she agreed to. She finished me off by hand which wasn't particularly enjoyable as she insisted on leaving the condom on until I came.

I've no idea if Pamela really exists or whether this is another AW bait and switch. I certainly won't be returning to find out. A cheap punt but not one I'd recommend.
