The Story:

Having used candy shop over the years I've seen some amazing escorts and have always been happy with the service until now, so bad was it that I had to write this review. I saw Kendal today, at first glance she looks to be fine but looks are where it ends, services are lacking. She is on the AW site and her enjoy list does not ring true, is it too much to ask that the services advertised are what you receive. She also had a complete lack of interest, I know that it's a job for her but the whole point of GFE is at least faking interest a skill she hasn't learnt, and after paying for an hour she had her clothes back on within 20 minutes and was leading me to the door. She is obviously new to escorting and may just be in it to make some fast cash if so good luck to her but if she intends to do this for a while she needs to make more of an effort.
