The Premises:

This lady works from a small first floor apartment quite close to Stockton center. The street door is in the middle of a row of shops, so nobody really takes any notice of anyone entering or leaving, it is not a residential area. Free parking is available very close by. The place is clean and shower facilities are adequate.

The massage is performed in a room containing a professional massage table and a decorative lamp in one corner. There is a chair to put your clothes on. Soft relaxing music plays all through the session.

The Lady:

The lady is very petite with a mop of blonde hair. She is in her mid 40s, her body is very toned as if she goes to a gym. She is curvy and attractive with large, full breasts. She advertises on Viva Street and the pics are definitely her. She always wears bright red lipstick, and she has a small number of tattoos. She is friendly but not really chatty, she tends to maintain a cool, professional attitude but she will reply to questions. If you text her, she replies quite promptly but the replies tend to be short and terse, often just one or two words. She is British and scrupulously clean.

She does not take payment up front, but only after the session is completed. She tends to go for a quick shower as you are dressing, and an unscrupulous punter could sneak out without paying as she did this, in this way she differs from most ladies who want money up front.

The Story:

This lady is not an escort in the conventional sense, she makes that quite clear on her profile, she does not offer either full sex or oral sex. What she provides is a very sensual and erotic slow tantric style massage with a hand relief happy ending, so I have included this review because her service is sexual in nature.

I have visited her twice and would definitely visit again. The first time, she offered the service for £50 in her undies or £70 naked, I opted for the undies. She stripped down to a skimpy bra and panties and had me lie face down on the massage table. She proceeded to give me a slow, sensual hot oil massage, starting at my back and shoulders and working down to my legs, also massaging my arms and hands on the way. As she worked on my legs her fingers would sometimes slip under me to tease my cock and balls for a few seconds.

Eventually she asked me to turn over, and after a short massage of my chest and thighs, she climbed onto the table at the head end, so that my head was between her legs, and her crotch directly above my face, and leaned over me to give me a very delightful hand relief to finish.

The second time I visited, the session mirrored the first with one exception, during the massage she removed the bra and panties as well, so that when she climbed onto the table to finish me I had a naked fanny inches above my face and as she wanked me I tongued her very clean and fresh tasting clit. When I commented on this and said I hadn't paid for naked, she just shrugged and said "What I do is not written in stone." which I assumed meant that if she liked the client or saw them as a prospective regular she would offer a little more, although she makes it very clear that hand relief is the only sexual activity on offer.

Overall, a pleasant experience both times. If £50 seems a lot for a massage and hand relief, all I can say is that this is not the usual rub and tug escort experience but a very professional tantric style massage, and worth the money.
