The Premises:

I saw Leah in her shared flat in Baker Street just a few minutes from the station – an infinitely nicer area than the ubiquitous Queensway/Bayswater destination. The Sherlock Holmes Hotel just around the corner is a nice place for a pre-punt drink while waiting for the clock to run down to fun-time.

Once inside, a decent bedroom and bathroom but otherwise unremarkable – or maybe I simply wasn't paying attention?

The Lady:

Wow!

Leah looks exactly like her video and profile pictures as there is no discernible manipulation of the images. She clearly takes great care and pride in her presentation and looked absolutely gorgeous – in fact, the first time I saw her she was in the pink/red lingerie with flesh stockings, and this time in the classically simple light blue (or grey?) dress with nothing else but heels! If she combined the two outfits, you could proudly have her accompany you anywhere!

She has a fantastic figure with nice-feeling enhanced boobs and a pleasingly flat and tight stomach, which is one thing that I really appreciate. Her hair is exactly as depicted which is not only extremely striking, but also much less intrusive than the usual long black silky Thai manes.

The Story:

This was my second meeting with Leah, both during November. The first time I went through Olina as I was initially attracted to her by the video, but this time I went back to my preferred Asian Selection - they have been more friendly and chatty in their texts, whereas Olina have been very business-like. I accept that this may be down to pot luck, dependant on the receptionist on duty at the time. With both agencies, the booking process was smooth and efficient.

The first time I saw Leah it took us just a short while to be comfortable with each other, and after that we were totally relaxed and open with each other. It's great when this happens and everything seems to flow naturally.

She seems exceptionally proud of her boobs and her go-to service is very much a tit-wank with the offer of a cum-over-boobs to finish, but this is not really my thing and so I moved us on to my preferred oral after a short while.

I suppose it's an ego thing, but I really enjoy it when a girl responds well to my DATY – I really can't understand why they don't all enjoy this, but then I've never understood much about women. Leah really got quite carried away in both meetings which in turn aroused me even further and encouraged me to prolong the oral for most of our time together.

Leah's OWO was very porn style, i.e. fast and furious with plenty of hand action and eye to eye contact, and after a spell of this I was ready for some straight sex. We practised the various standard positions (I'm rather conservative!) and she was an enthusiastic, energetic and willing partner - cowgirl was my favourite with her, and that's where I decided to let go!

I can't remember kissing Leah as it wasn't offered and I accept that this is usually a Thai exclusion. Apart from that, she happily accepted everything that I wanted to do with none of the common silly exclusion zones or "too tickly" places.

Any other business

I don't often write reviews these days as, after 150+ punts, I accept that I'm getting jaded and many meetings are now unremarkable. Leah was exceptional, more so in view of the current shortage of Oriental talent. She is attractive, skillful, friendly and has a wonderful open character, and she deserves to do well.

PS: It also struck me that she is the only escort who has ever called me by name (or attempted to) rather than the usual "Da-leeng", "Hunee", or simply nothing at all. Unfortunately, it's completely unpronounceable for a Thai, but at least she tried!
