The pictures are accurate. Dahlia is in her 40's, tanned.

The Story:

I don't punt frequently (I guess!), but have had my eye on Dahlia for a while. For whatever reason, whenever I was potentially in the right place at the right time, she wasn't scheduled, or was booked. Today she was there though, so I couldn't miss the opportunity. I had a meeting for the time that Dahlia was available, so made myself optional for that, and headed for what I was hoping would be a much more productive, enjoyable, and intimate meeting.

So I was waiting for a couple of minutes for Dahlia, and once i got undressed, was wondering what else to do, and then she walked in. Great photos on the site, but she looks very serious. She isn't like that at all (although I am sure she could be). I was instantly surprised at how friendly she was, and actually, how hot. She is a few years older than I am, and the photos give a great idea, but she is better in person in my opinion. She is no 21 year old, but she has a great body, and personality to go with it.

After a quick introductory conversation where she asked me what I liked (I always love/hate that bit, having to say that I was to lick a girls pussy feels so blunt, but such a turn on), and then she kneeled down to give me a bj. Then pushed me on the bed for more, some kissing, then a 69. I was led to believe that I was a bad boy :) Finally, finished in the missionary position, but with a lot of dirty talk in between (and during actually). Finished with a bit more of a chat about bikes and all sorts of things, and then I left feeling like a million quid.
