The Premises:

Situated on the first floor and tastefully appointed the flat was clean and comfortable with ensuite shower over bath, clean soft towel and loads of piping hot water (which is usefull after the massage) and really close to Bayswater station (less than a minutes walk). There is a large mirrored wardrobe to the side of the bed if you want a different angle to view proceedings!

The Lady:

Jennifer was a delight to behold! She had made every effort to provide a sexy secretary outfit as requested but as I could see it was not comfortable there was no problem in removing it as soon as possible. Other reviews have said similar things, she is actually better looking than the images in the sites where she is portrayed, if a little older than the camera portrays. She was very attentive and very keen that everything was "just so" for our session, to the point of being fastidious at the outset which, as this was my first visit, was a little frustrating. She is very petite with a great enhanced boob job, this is how enhancement should look, feel, taste and smell! There was definitely no disappointment there as so often can be the case.

The Story:

Unfortunately as this was a mid afternoon session I was running a little late (not more than 5 min) so I was a little stressed when I arrived. Jennifer greeted me with a welcoming smile and double cheek kiss. After the initial chat, I showered in the ensuite bathroom and took the the mouthwash as requested. Once into the boudoir I thought things moved a little slowly to start. There was checking of lighting levels, sound systems, turning off the porn on the TV (I would rather do than watch!) until finally we managed to get all her kit off, which considering it looked pretty flimsy to me, seemed to take an inordinate amount of time to remove. However! Notwithstanding the first ten minutes or so, once we settled down to business Jennifer was simply divine. She has an exquisite OWO technique which is so soft and sensual yet when you look in the mirror she has a really firm grip of you! We explored my sensual region all around with her tongue finding nooks where it could explode my pleasure at the earliest opportunity. She skilfully moved from heading north to heading south which gave me ample opportunity to sample her comely sweet pussy which was as succulent as a juicy mango but with much more form and texture! Yes I did enjoy it! After she had turned north again (almost without me noticing) we swapped positions so that I could dine at the Y, this she enjoyed enough that she demanded I fuck her quickly. Given her heightened state of arousal and the long previous oral some fumbling ensued when it came to attiring the appropriate protection! it didn't take long to empty my load into her following which it was a delight to bring her to orgasm with a multitude of vibrating apendiges. Once we were both satiated she provided an exquisite massage while all the time checking it was not too painful. Her massage was so sensual it aroused a second pop which I obliged over her magnificent rack. This was always going to get messy, which it did, all credit to her skills in bringing the best from you. Jennifer really knows what she is doing and understands what you want. If you are looking for someone to give you an excellent PSE then look no further. I would highly recommend!
