The Premises:

Post war council estate behind Edgware Road. Easy to find with good directions from Oilna. Buzzed in and proceeded to red door. Sarah's apartment was very small and in need a repair (or demolition!). Her room was small and sparsely furnished, no decoration, peeling paint, a thread-bare carpet and a lumpy bed. Not a great first impression. The bathroom was small and very uninviting - the bath taps were caked in lime scale, the tiles were chipped and the bathtub was stained. Felt dirtier after the shower than I did before!

Overall a very poor property and it would definitely put me off even if Sarah was a delight.... Which she wasn't.

The Lady:

I had booked another girl from Olina who cancelled the day before so I was offered Sarah as an alternative. I have usually had great service from Olina and the girls have always exceeded my expectations so I didn't question their recommendation.

Sarah's profile is a miracle of Photoshop! You can just about see the resemblance in the flesh but she is nowhere near as pretty or alluring as her photos. I would say she is early 30s, slim but with a bit of a belly and quite dark skin. I have seen 4 different Olina girls before and Sarah is nowhere near the standard I was expecting.

Sarah was friendly enough though but she barely speaks any English so the entire session was performed with pointing and gestures.

The Story:

After the formalities, Sarah showed me the bathroom. I asked her to join me for a shower but she declined. When I saw the state of it (see above) I am quite glad actually. I dried and returned to her room.

Sarah quickly undressed me and removed her dress. She kissed me with her tongue but with hardly any lip contact – very odd and something I can only described as a lizard lick! I fondled her breasts for a while but she was clearly tender and backed away. Great! This really isn't going well.

After a quick tug on my manhood, she knelt on the floor and reached for the wipes. I had just had a shower but she insisted on almost scrubbing my knob, disinfecting every part of my already-spotlessly-clean cock. I was wondering whether I had got the address wrong and inadvertently volunteered for an STI exam!!!

Anyway, thorough cleaning over, she started OWO. Not a bad BJ to be honest but the experience so far was pretty terrible so it took me a while to become enthusiastic. As soon as things started to warm up, she stood up led me to the bed and said "condom?". Mood killer or what! I gestured that I wanted more than 3 minutes of sucking so she asked me to lie down and she continued with her head in my groin. She positioned her body away from me but I eventually coxed around so that I could have access in between her legs. She was unshaven and clearly pre-lubed (as I had not done anything to excite her). I was gentle but she refused to let me rub her clip and kept grabbing my hand.

10 minutes in and she says "condom" again. I was getting pretty pissed off by this time and shook my head. In Sarah's defence, she continued with a smile and a pretty decent BJ. I really wasn't feeling it though and was struggling to keep upright.

15 minutes more and we switched to a 69. She was very un-responsive. I usually love this position but not on this occasion. She seemed to be doing everything she could to avoid any physical contact with her.

I am lucky enough to have good stamina but for the first time ever I found myself willing myself to cum. I really was not enjoying the experience and had absolutely no intention of fucking her so I closed my eyes, thought of something a lot better and eventually came. Sarah was a pro and took my load in her mouth before quickly reaching for the tissues.

After another thorough clean up. Sarah asked me if I wanted a massage. I agreed but that was so pathetic that I stopped her after a couple of minutes and gestured 'time up'. She seemed surprised and I admit it must be a bit odd for a client to call time but I had had enough.

After another rapid shower I got dressed, smiled and left with at least 15 minutes of the hour to spare and never to return.

In fairness to Sarah, it must be tough. I have no idea how many clients she had seen that day and it is pretty unrealistic to expect a full-on GFE every occasion so I do feel guilty about leaving a poor review but it was so poor in all areas that I thought I must write. I know this is not typical of Olina so can only assume that Sarah was having a bad day at the office.
