The Premises:

The Lady:

Looked nothing like her pictures. Okay body, 34 years old, really bad face.

The Story:

Just a head's up - shes nothing at all like in the photos. She looked stunning online. I was absolutely shocked when she turned up though - her face is really terrible. It's pointy and really bad, I was actually lost for words. She stank of weed too. She told me that someone had turned her away for looking nothing like her pictures and I had to pretend to be shocked at that. She seemed like an okay person though and her body was okay.

A really disappointing experience, I'd never use her again and although I'm not accusing them of a bait n switch, it wasn't far off and was highly deceiving to say the least. So much so in fact that I joined up just for this reason - to forewarn anybody about it. I won't use them again for that, despite the fact that they may be okay in other departments (it was my first time using them so I can't comment.)
