The Story:

This was my second visit to a parlour, my first to this particular parlour, and it was a great experience overall.

The parlour itself is located in a mostly industrial area of town, about 15 mins walk from the bus station in the middle of the city. When you walk into the secluded entranceway and ring the buzzer, a woman comes downstairs and lets you in. You're then taken upstairs and into the lounge area to choose a WG that you would like to spend time with. There were two women available, but I'd arrived in the middle of lunch time, which I presume is a busy time. I chose the lady who had answered the door, Darcie, an attractive woman in her mid 40s with a natural body and medium sized natural breasts. It had always been a fantasy of mine to be with a woman like this.

Right from the beginning, Darcie's friendly demeanour put me at ease. As this was only my second time doing this, I opted for half an hour of hand relief initially. I needed the half hour because I'm usually super slow. While she disappeared to stash the cash, I stripped down to underwear and sat on the bed.

The friendliness continued when she returned and there was more kissing and another hug before she started to undress. Once she was naked she got onto the bed and invited me to get on next to her. At all times, she was overwhelmingly friendly and nice. She told me it was okay for us to kiss, if I wanted to, and before long we were exchanging a few kisses on the lips while she was giving me the hand relief and I stroked her body and felt her breasts. Because of her friendly personality and enthusiastic attitude, you could really lie next to her and imagine that you'd picked up an older woman on night out and got incredibly lucky. Absolutely nothing seemed to be too much trouble and at all times she was egging ME on to take things further if I wanted to. I still didn't quite understand how the pricing worked in these places, but she assured me that covered oral was fine, and even sex if I wanted it, even though I thought I had only paid for hand relief. Because things were going well, the oral was an offer that I soon took her up on. She did a good job, although I'm not a massive fan of oral with a condom.

After a while, she assured me again that we could have sex if I wanted, and I took her up on that offer too. At all times she seemed ever so keen, and acted as though she really enjoyed her job. We did some of the basic positions and she put in a great effort, always giving me the impression that she was enjoying it. We finished with hand relief with her lying next to me while I stroked her body. I normally take ages, but I finished in what's probably a fairly normal time for once. However, Darcie is the opposite of a clock-watcher and even offered me a massage to fill out the time that we had left. We had a quick chat at the end while getting dressed and cleaning up.

Overall, it was a great experience with someone incredibly friendly who certainly acted like she was enjoying it at all times, and she made me feel like nothing was too much trouble. Recommended.
