The Premises:

MKE's place in Fenny Stratford. I was pleased Olivia was working from this location as there is plenty of parking nearby and the room we were in was perfectly suitable for the intended purpose.

The Lady:

The twitter feed on HoD's website occasionally has Olivia's unblurred photos which provide an excellent indication of what she looks like. She's definitely in the milf category and certainly can pass for a cougar possessing a certain animal magnetism which sends out strong signals to attract her quarry. I can imagine that she makes a strong impression on the opposite sex at social gatherings with sober men flocking around her with numbers increasing exponentially as alcohol flows as men competing with each other for the privilege of spending time in private with her.

Beauty is only skin deep as they say and what really surprised me was that she is a far nicer person than I was expecting. For some reason, I thought she would be a loud, cold and calculating maneater type who would make punters work hard for what they want but nothing could be further than the truth. Very polite and well mannered, she comes across as being gentle, sensitive and caring. With an open nature and wearing her heart on her sleeve, those she likes will definitely get to know about it and reap the benefits. Another review on P'net describes her as a beautiful soul and I completely concur.

The Story:

I'd first met Olivia 12 days previously when she was part of a 3 girl session I'd booked at HoD. Her enthusiasm to ensure my absolute pleasure together with her determination to enjoy herself at the same time made such a strong impression on me that I said to her I'd book her again asap and reiterated this in my P'net review of that encounter. For me there is no better punt than spending time with a lady who really enjoys her job and gives 100%. This encourages me to raise my game to give my best and in accordance with the laws of synergy, the outcome is far greater than the sum of the individual parts. In fact on this occasion it was fucking explosive.

Confuscius is a man of his word and finding myself coincidentally with business to sort in north London on a day that Olivia was on the roster at MKE, I seized the opportunity to head an hour or so northwards to renew acquaintances. It took 4 or 5 seconds for her to recognise me when she walked into the room but once she did, such was the warmth of her welcome that I extended the booking to 45 minutes. It was a good decision as I received lashings of enthusiastic dfk and owo culminating in cim upon which she sprinkled quite a few compliments to make me feel good about myself. In return, I did my best to pleasure her and she gave all the indications of really enjoying herself. At the end, she admitted to having the "at one with the universe feeling" which I have learnt through experience is the perfect measure of an excellent punt. I too admitted to feeling this way.

To conclude, I will quote a statement from another P'net review of her:

"Treat Olivia well and you will not regret it."
