The Story:

Probably my worst punt yet.

Alysha told me to get undressed. I asked if I could keep my boxers on to start with as I prefer to build up to things, she said "no, you have come here for one thing". First warning flag...

The session itself started ok with kissing, no tongues. Alysha quickly told me she likes to be in charge. I've never been a real sub but thought I may as well play along. She pushed my head down to go down on her and I did so for a long time with her laying back and saying "good boy". Then she went down on me. Her technique was very functional - no gentle caressing and teasing just sucking hard and fast although to be fair she did use her nails on my balls. I'd been saving myself for a few days and it wasn't long before I shot my load only 20mins into the session.

So far an ok punt, not amazing but no major complaints. This is where it went wrong...

Her phone rang and she actually answered it in the middle of our session and took another booking. Her phone had been pinging with texts the whole time and she was looking at it.

She asked about my personal circumstances and then started being very judgemental about why I visit girls, telling me that I shouldn't. A real turn off and not something a WG has ever done before! Shortly after she started pulling hard on my flaccid cock only 5mins after I'd blown my load, to get me going again - I suggested she give me a massage - she said she doesn't do that because of a broken nail so I asked her to bend over so I could go down on her from behind which she agreed to. I did enjoy this as she does have a nice ass albeit she is much skinnier than girls I prefer. I should point out she kept her leather dress on the whole time and I never saw her bra let alone her breasts but that wasn't really a problem.

While I was licking her out from behind she was making monotone noises of appreciation but she obviously sounded bored, moreover I could tell she was actually replying to texts whilst I was busy at work which was appalling.

She then turned round saw that my cocktail was hardening and put a condom on me, I asked if we could spoon and she said no and just climbed on and began to ride me very hard and uncomfortably. Not only was I not quite ready but her whole attitude of trying to make me cum quick was just off-putting and I didn't stay hard long. She climbed off and announced that that's as the end of the session only 35 mins in. I pointed out I had paid for an hour and there was over 20mins left and she gave me some bull about how she doesn't care what other girls do, she considers a 1hour booking to mean cum twice not stay 1 hour and I haven't cum again so it's over. I could've argued but I didn't want to be in t

His con artist's company any longer and got dressed and left without saying goodbye.

Early in the punt had mentioned that we can't do reviews on AW due to Covid. She's clearly taking advantage of that as she's paying to be a featured member. Hopefully this will get published to warn others about her.
