The Premises:

Smart flat in Bayswater, a short walk from the tube station. Reasonably discrete. The door is next to a restaurant, but at the time of day I visited it was quiet and why would anyone be bothered?

Lounge, bathroom and bedroom. Clean and tidy. Comfy double bed with adjacent mirror at the pillow end.

The Lady:

Thai lady in her mid 30's I guess. Very pretty. Made an effort with hair and make-up and smells good. Slim body with fake boobs.

The Story:

Anna was dressed as requested as a naughty nurse - a white, figure hugging dress, with a full-length zip at the front.

On arrival Anna welcomed me to my appointment and assured me the nurse would make me feel better. I was lead into the lounge and gently pushed onto the sofa for a snog fest whilst assisted to undress.

Anna half-joined me in the shower - staying at the dry end so not to get her dress wet. She soaped me down to ensure I was clean before leading me to the bedroom where she instructed me that a good fuck would make me feel better and help with the swelling she had observed. After a good session of owo, we moved through cowgirl, missionary and doggy before I was invited into anal. Watching myself rut on her I didn't last too long in her ass before unloading in the bag. Anna kissed me passionately, thanking me for my efforts, telling me I had been a good boy.

She moved on to a head massage, before starting to wank me, determined to get a second cumming. I'm not often a two shot man these days, but her efforts did bear fruit in the end, which she eagerly took in her mouth.

A quick shower followed, before she helped me dress, whilst we chatted about our experiences on the recently opened Crossrail.
