The Story:

This was unquestionably the worst meet that I have ever had at Maxes (been using them since 2006).

In a nutshell, Aurora is exceedingly immature and does not have an understanding of how to behave with a client. Either that or she deliberately feigns immaturity in order to do as little as possible for as much as possible.

Right from the start there were constant problems ("I don't do this", "I don't do that", "don't touch me there"); when it came time for the actual service, she started giggling and complaining that she didn't know how to put on a condom, quite obviously an attempt to weasel out of the service. And things progressively went south from there.

Throughout the meet she was mocking, sarcastic and evasive about providing services. Even something as mild as a request for a massage was met with passive aggressive comments throughout. I left early despite having paid a silly sum for this "service"

It's not in my nature to complain but this service was so poor and the price so shocking that I felt compelled to write here to warn others. I complained to the agency via email but never received a response.

So in summation, what you get with this person is immaturity, mercenary attitude and unkindness. Don't be swayed by superficial looks. We all know that what makes someone a good escort is much more than that.

Zero recommendation for both the girl and Maxes who have really sunk in my estimation in recent years.
