The Premises:

Nice, clean, lived-in flat in decent neighbourhood. I decided to meet Tanya at her place, since I have found girls seem more relaxed in their own territory. She apparently shares this flat with Vicky and Karina, who were both home, so if you don't like the thought of a couple more gorgeous girls possibly hearing what you are doing in the bedroom, this may make you uncomfortable. Personally, I found it a little bit of a turn-on. Though once behind closed doors, you do feel you have privacy.

The Lady:

Tanya is a cute, natural, girl-next-door type from Russia, maybe in her early 20s, if that old. I finally know what is meant when a girl is described as 'a little firecracker'. She is not a tall, leggy model type, but rather a short, cute, energetic and fun-loving ball of energy. Her pictures on the web site are accurate, but they don't give a sense of how much fun she is. I'd say it was a real GFE, but only rarely have I had a girlfriend be that enthusiastic. (I hate to think what that says about me!)

The Story:

Part 1

Unfortunately, Tube delays meant that I was about a half hour late in arriving. I had called the agency along the way to let them know, and they said it should be ok, but when I arrived Tanya told me she had another appointment right after mine, which left us with only 30 minutes. She apologised and seemed prepared for me to reschedule, but she looked so cute that I decided to go ahead with the appointment anyway, and she quickly cut short the conversation, grinned, and got down to business without seeming businesslike somehow.

We stripped off to our shorts and started kissing. Pretty soon she had me lie back on the bed, removed my underwear and started to give me very enthusiastic OWO while I squeezed her cute breasts. Since I usually like to take my time, I thought the 30 minute limit was going to interfere, but her technique soon had me on the edge. I wanted to get inside her, so she smiled and asked if I liked doggy style. We got to it, and her tightness and firm behind were making it difficult to hold back. I held off long enough for us to change to mish, but her smiling face, cute body, and tight pussy soon put me over the edge, and I came hard inside her while she smiled up at me.

Afterward she was in no hurry for me to pull out, and we kissed a little more, with her telling me she really enjoyed it. (No French, but very sensual anyway.) Then I noticed the time, and we started to get dressed. Despite the good experience, I felt a little uncomfortable at the rush, and she asked if I was ok. I explained, and she suggested I come back later, telling me she was free for the evening after 7pm. I said I'd think about it, and paid her for an hour since it was not her fault that I was late.

Part 2

I did some sightseeing in London and could not get Tanya out of my mind, so I called Prelude and booked another appointment for the evening. This time I arrived about 30 minutes early, and we laughed about it when she greeted me at the door, wrapping her arms around my neck and kissing me enthusiastically, seeming quite pleased to see me again. In fact, in addition to the GFE in the bedroom, I found the way she greets and says goodbye to be very tender and affectionate, adding to the illusion that I was over to visit a girlfriend who just happens to live with two other attractive Eastern European women.

This time she made me some tea and we sat and talked a bit with Vicky (who was very businesslike last time but warmed up this time) about things from the Rosetta Stone to Scotland. After about 20 minutes of pleasant chat, Tanya took me by the hand and we went back to the bedroom. (I kick myself now for not asking whether Vicky wanted to join us!)

This time we started much more slowly, with lots of kissing, slow undressing, and rubbing of our bodies together. Then she went for the OWO again, but at a much more relaxed pace, adding light licks and rubbing her nipples over my cock as well as her energetic mouth technique. She made a point of looking me in the eye while doing this, with a smile in her eyes that let me know that she knew exactly what effect that has on men. I decided I wanted to come on her breasts, and we started going for this with her on top, but eventually turned over so she was lying on her back gently stroking my balls while I took matters into my own hands. (She tried for a little while, but her manual technique was too rough for me, so I took over.) Eventually I came pretty strongly for a second time that day, shooting across her stomach and breasts and over her shoulder. She laughed and commented on my distance ability, showing me where I had hit the pillow.

Then we lay together and talked for a while. (One hint if you are going to visit Tanya: try not to tell her all your problems. She's not getting paid to be a psychiatrist, and she would much rather hear about things other than your woes. She thanked me for being interesting instead of just complaining.) I was hoping to go twice, considering the time problems we had before, and I decided to convince her by applying some reverse oral. Her pussy is trimmed with just a little hair above, and she tasted fresh and clean. I'm pretty sure I made her come based on the wetness of the sheets and her pretending to be too dizzy to walk to the toilet afterward, but she could just be a really good actress.

Unfortunately, when she returned from the toilet, she said her friends were waiting for her to go out, and we had to finish. To be fair, I had actually been there for 90 minutes by this time if you include the tea and conversation, and I had not specifically requested more time than that, so with both visits combined, I guess I really got my 2 hours. She was wonderfully attentive as I left, kissing me multiple times at the door and encouraging me to come back again.

All in all, a great, enthusiastic GFE with a cute little firecracker, marred only slightly by scheduling conflicts.
