The Premises:

Upper maisonette split into multiple levels. Bedroom on first level, bathroom (bath-closet more like) on main level behind the kitchen. Place was ok - not overly clean, not filthy. Managed to park close by. This was not her flat though (see later)

The Lady:

As per photos : tall, blonde Latvian girl aged (as stated) 21. Nice figure that is starting to slip. Smooth skin and quite attractive. Very little English spoken though.

The Story:

Trying to work out just how bad it was. I drive in from outside town and was originally sent to Gloucester Rd / Kensington by 90 Minute for a 9pm, 90min incall . After 10mins of bell ringing, rang the agency and eventually found out she was at a different address - Marylebone. Armed with the new address and shaky directions from the agency, I finally got there at 9.50 and finally got to meet Kate.

At this point the agency had offered a ?20 discount due to the cock up. Kate then informs me (in broken English) that as I am so late, she can only see me for an hour. Ok - so it's clothes off and straight to the old man. Ho hum. Everything takes place as per usual with some terrible fake moaning and the obvious hurry she is in is in some strange way a bit of a turn on for me - despite the cigarette and garlic smell from her mouth! Afterwards, conversation is next to impossible, but after a bit of cuddling she starts up again and off we go to round two. This time with even less enthusiasm - so much so that I just give up in the end. When I asked her the time, it was a wide eyed 'eleven' so I left - looking at the time as I got to my car, it was 10.40.....

All in all a strange one. She was at 'a friend's flat' which explains the run around and her friend kept phoning her to get things out of the bedroom. Not much fun. But at least I didn't waste much cash on the experience. Maybe I just caught her on a bad night, but I'm not convinced. Maybe with some tutoring from other girls she can be a dynamo, but I'm even less convinced of that. So sadly, I can't really recommend or return.
