The Premises:

A basement flat close to Tooting Bec tube station. On a busy road with a nice concealed entrance round the back so totally inconspicuous on entry. Plenty of side roads with pay and display bays for parking but free at weekends and after 4.30pm. There's a very handy ATM at a nearby petrol station as well.

The Lady:

Sasa (pronounced Shasha) is a very pretty young lady, half Thai and half Chinese. She has very long legs and good 'handful' breasts with large nipples. Best of all is her skin. So smooth and firm to touch. I couldn't keep my hands to myself.

The Story:

I was in Tooting anyway so decided to call as it is a sister establishment of one I use in Bromley regularly and have always had good service there. I was told on the phone that they were busy for 20 minutes so I killed a bit of time then went along. The maid answered and said that they were still overrunning and it would be another 15 minutes so I asked if I could wait inside. She was worried that I would mind sitting with men which I took to mean other punters and said "no". That doesn't worry me. As it turned out the "men" she was referring to were a couple of builders putting in a new partition bedroom. We struck up quite a good conversation. I said that if there was a raid I would grab one of the drills and pretend to be working for them.

I was sitting with Sasa as well who was very pleasant and wearing a long dressing gown. The maid, who was ever so friendly and apologetic for making me wait, gave me a freebie neck and shoulder massage while I was sitting much to the envy of the builders. Eventually the other girl working, whose name escapes me - sorry, came in wearing a very skimpy number. It's a wonder the workmen could concentrate on their task. I went into the bedroom which was nicely done out with soft music and an oriental water feature. It wasn't as dark as most places either. I was shown both girls and selected Sasa, not just because I had been chatting with her outside but I could now see her beautiful legs. The other girl was good looking as well and spoke better English. Decisions decisions!

Once in the room Sasa's service was brilliant. Gentle massaging of the vital areas followed by body to body, tit fuck and oral without. She was into proper kissing as well which was a nice change. After lots of nice fingering, cuddling and kissing we progressed to cowgirl and I didn't last long as she was nice and tight. It made a nice change for a girl not to apply any lubricant as well.

After a brief respite she soon got me hard again with her gentle massaging and kissing then much of the same followed, this time including a lengthy 69 session. I came a second time, this time in the doggy position. In nearly all my hour long visits I have to finish the second session by hand. This time was different and I amazed even myself by cumming twice during proper sex.

After a little more chat my time was up and I was on my way with a friendly farewell from both Sasa and the maid. The second bedroom should be completed soon which will provide a quicker turnover. Sasa is new and not on the website yet but it is only a matter of time. I will certainly be back.
