The Story:

It IS the girl in the photos, which nicely surprised me, she does look VERY different in the flesh without the glamour and photoshopping, but it was her, which was cool.

She had a nice manner but she's very chatty and really milked the 'preparation' ie the bits where there is no sex, to the extent I kept telling her can we start now can we start now! But she kinda pretended not to understand I think. So anyway, the 'chit chat' which was all one way, her chatting, me not understanding any of it and not saying anything other than can we start now please. And the shower, and her shower, and drying me, and drying her, then she wanted to massage me but it was already 30 mins deep into my one hour and nothing had happened yet so I said god no!

I really liked her body though, just my thing, and she gave good sex, but I hate to say it but I have to mark her down because she made two fundamental errors for a working girl:

1 - She has halitosis, I mean she has REALLY bad breath!

2 - She doesn't seem to understand that when I man cums, it's THE worst possible time to 'stop'. Basically she was giving me a hand job to cum on her tits (my request) and when I started to cum she just kind of stopped, and looked at it. She didn't seem to understand you need to keep wanking at that point! d'oh! Much to my frustration :-(
