The Premises:

A clean and tidy flat located at the southern part of Grays Inn Road .

The Lady:

A beautiful Indian girl with a nice body. Photos on the website are genuine.

The Story:

My first punt at Indian Palace and it turned out to be a very disappointed experience.

I have been looking for an Indian girl who provides GFE.

I saw Sara's profile on the London Indian Escort Directory (www.londonindianescort.co.uk)

Indian Palace advertises her as Sara Busty Punjabi GFE, and it clearly says on her profile that she offers Hygienic GFE, Personal Services, Sexy Relaxing & Erotic massage, Foot Worship, Watersports.

From what I understand about GFE, the girl would treat me like her boyfriend, i.e. a lot of French kissing etc, and because of the word hygienic, I made sure that I was clean from head to toe before I went to see her.

Sara does not offer my type of GFE at all. She told me that they are not allowed to French kiss and wasted several minutes in explaining to me about the diseases that you could transmit through French kissing. Not only that she did not French kiss, she was also very reluctant to do closed lips kissing, Whenever I tried to kiss her on her lips, cheeks or face, she just moved her head away. She also would not let me touch her bumhole or play around with her pussy. Even sucking her nipple had to be very very gentle. Although her profile says she offers foot worship, she was not comfortable at all for me to touch her feet, so I did not even dare to ask if I could kiss or lick it. All I got from her was just a lazy covered BJ and a mechanical fuck.

If I have known about punternet earlier and if I have read all the Indian Palace ?s field reports, I would not have gone there. I feel that Indian Palace should make it clearer about the actual services on offer by their girls and their house rules and standards on their website and other websites that they advertise in, otherwise they will end up having lots of disappointed clients like myself.

Service Provider's Rebuttal

Sara writes:

Dear orlando007,

it's a shame you can't be honest about what actually happened and have now tried to make it seem like I deliberately tricked you. As I do with everyone that comes to see me, before you give me the money, I explain which services I do and do not provide. After I explained this all to you, you still wanted to stay with me, so I don't know why you have decide to write a bad report after.

A hygienic GFE means exactly that. Hygienic meaning no bodily fluids interact. I give a very relaxing sensual service as all my regulars will let you know about if you ever asked them. If I was so bad, would anyone come back to see me? I don't think so. If I really gave such a terrible service like you have described, I would get loads of complaints and Indian Palace would not have me there. But, I always get positive, appreciative comments which is why I am still at Indian Palace. When you call up and ask about services, Indian Palace do give out an information line which fully describes the services we all do and do not do.

You wanted to stick your finger all the way up my bum which is not comfortable for me. It's also not comfortable the way you tried to stick your fingers up the other place either in a non gentle manner. After explaining to you at the beginning of the service, before I took your money, that I don't french kiss, you still tried to do that while we were in the middle of the service, which is why I obviously turned my head away.

As for me not being comfortable with my feet being touched, they just tickled. And all I did is say they tickled when you were touching them.

Your comment about us having lots of disappointed customers as we do not let clients know which services we provide is not true. We do let the customers know when they enquire when they ring up by giving them the information line and before they give us the money. All the new customers always ask which services we provide and we always tell them before they pay us. It makes no sense to take someone's money and lie about the services we provide only to have the person upset after. You obviously decided you should not have stayed due to the lack of unhygienic service that you were expecting from me, even though I did explain it to you first. I am not at fault here. And my blow jobs are not lazy! You came quick enough, so how was the 'fuck' mechanical then?

Have a nice day 007
