The Premises:

Fingertips is the relocated version of Tammys that used to be in Burslem. It is an odd building with little natural light. So, coming in from a sunny day, it was very dark. Overall though, a pleasant enough place.

One of the key negatives is that the place did smell a little bit of smoke. This is a major downer if you're a non smoker - it really sticks to your clothes & you have some explaining to do when you get home. Other establishments - such as New Tingles and Head Office manage not to smell of smoke.

If someone else visits, please let us know if they have sorted out .

There are no showers in the rooms.

This place does offer some of the cheapest rates around & very flexible pricing for units of time 15 min, 30 min & 1hr

The Lady:

A very pleasant looking lady, about mid 30's. Really nice slim figure.

The Story:

A very pleasant time with a nice looking lady. Received an adequate massage, then had sex in a couple of positions. The maid said that she didn't kiss, so I didn't try. Well done to the maid for being honest about this - I don't mind whether or not girls provide services, I just want the maid to be honest - rather than the 'at their discretion' phrase.

I would return and maybe even spend a little longer.
