The Story:

Really enjoyable night and morning. We started by introducing ourselves to get the tension out the way (it was my first time), then we had a lovely take away with champagne - with us a lil light-headed, we then went into romantic mode, with scented candles, music, low light atmosphere.... I won't go into the details but it was an experience to remember, a total GFE that I expected. Then we watched TV then crashed for the night. The next morning and afternoon led to more of the GFE, then she helped me with a few personal things around the house before she was on her way home.
