The Story:

My mates had booked the lady for an hour for my bday, she arrived promptly on time. I offered her a drink once in the flat, we then went to the bed room, her figure compared to the website was different... maybe a lil photoshop was used. She didnt smell very pleasant at all, I was verging on asking her to take a shower. She started off with a BJ, asked if she would owo but she refused. I started fingering her and then felt what i can most describe to be a furball come out from her pussy at which point i stopped fingering her. I then began to fuck her, I came after about 10mins. I said lets go again where she refused and told me it was agency policy that you get one shot during the booked time, this was new news to me as its the first time i herd such non-sense. Generally a lame experiance and the smell was such a turn off. Any why the hell did she have a furball in her! Paid for hour enjoyed 10min :(
